

ROOSEVELT WILL NOT ATTEND CONVENTION

STRENUOUS TEDDY SAYS THAT STORY HE PLANS TO BE PRESENT IS "PURE FAKE."

SEEKS OHIO DELEGATES

Wires His Manager That Taft Has No Claim Upon Any of Buckeye State's Delegates-at-large.

New York, May 31.—(By Associated Press.)—President Roosevelt said today the reports that he intended to go to the Chicago convention are untrue.

"Pure fake!" said Col. Roosevelt. "Of course I may alter my plans, but at present I have no intention of going to Chicago."

The suggestion of a compromise between Taft and Roosevelt forces at the Ohio state convention that is to elect six delegates-at-large to the Chicago convention next Tuesday was denounced today by the colonel.

The colonel sent a telegram to Walter P. Brown, his Ohio manager, at Columbus, in which he said he would not consent to a compromise anywhere, and in the next place that he carried Ohio by over 30,000 on the popular primary.

"Mr. Taft has in morals and equity," the telegram further stated, "no claims whatever to a single delegate at large from Ohio, and any attempt to secure him so much as one delegate at large means a deliberate effort to thwart the will of the people as expressed freely by them in the primaries."

"We cannot afford for one moment to consider such an effort to defraud the people of their right in this struggle for justice and for popular rule."

Col. Chauncey Dwyer, Roosevelt's manager in Illinois, and Medill McCormick of Chicago, one of the leaders of the Roosevelt campaign, came to New York today to confer with Col. Roosevelt.

Both Mr. Dwyer and Mr. McCormick said there was no truth in reports of serious dissension among the Illinois delegates elected for Roosevelt.

HOUSER SPARES NO WORDS ON COLONEL

La Follette's Manager in Scathing Criticism of Roosevelt in Current Issue of Magazine.

Madison, Wis., May 31.—(By Associated Press.)—The Taft-Roosevelt campaign as a "course personal quarrel," Walter L. Houser, campaign manager for Senator La Follette, issued a statement to the voters of South Dakota in La Follette's Weekly today in which he says that neither of the other candidates is shown by his record to be progressive.

"Whatever grounds of difference of opinion may have existed a few weeks ago on this subject, the character of the Taft-Roosevelt campaign now being conducted can leave no room for difference of opinion among loyal progressive Republicans," declares Mr. Houser. "That the important personal differences of Taft and Roosevelt should take the place of serious discussion of those great questions which must be settled during the term of the next president is not only making us the laughing stock of the rest of the civilized world, but is doing incalculable harm to our own people."

Colonel Laid Open.

Mr. Houser's statement is a typical La Follette roll call on Col. Roosevelt. Quoting from Roosevelt's words and statements, Mr. Houser seeks to show that until recently Col. Roosevelt was opposed to direct primaries, initiative and referendum. He cites the fact that when Oklahoma sought admission to the union in 1907, Col. Roosevelt, then president, opposed its radical constitution containing the initiative, referendum and recall, and went Secretary Taft, now president, to that state to oppose it. Houser says that the foisting of Taft upon the people by Col. Roosevelt, as both he and Taft now admit was done, must always stand as a complete refutation of the claim that he believes in the real rule of the people."

Turning to the tariff Mr. Houser declares that Col. Roosevelt editorially endorsed the Payne-Aldrich tariff law and shows from Roosevelt's speeches he claims that the colonel stood for Canadian reciprocity. He asserts that Roosevelt claims Canadian reciprocity is a dead issue, but that recently completely reversed this stand because of public clamor.

Arizona, Ariz., May 31.—(By Associated Press.)—The Republican assembly in State convention here today to select six delegates and six alternates to the national convention at Chicago.

COLONEL ROOSEVELT SCORED IN DEBATE

Atlanta, Ga., May 31.—(By Associated Press.)—Col. Roosevelt, "a bunter" former Governor of Indiana, asserted that had Colonel Roosevelt held the presidency during the Mexican crisis and had been backed by a powerful army and navy he would have devastated this country with war.

This remark was made during a debate here last night with Richard Pearson Hobson on the question "Resolved: That the United States should control the seas." Representative Hobson had outlined his views of the necessity for equipping the United States with such a naval force that was would be out of its question.

FREIGHT HANDLERS' STRIKE UNCHANGED

Commodities Moving Slowly—Strike Unmarked by Violence—Union Leaders Hopeful.

Chicago, Ill., May 31.—Conditions in the freight handlers' strike which was called several weeks ago when about 5,000 men walked out of the freight yards of twenty-two of the twenty-four railroads centering in Chicago, remain practically unchanged.

A review of the situation in the different freight yards in the city indicates that commodities are being moved slowly. Perishable merchandise is being received and handled by the different roads. The strike has been marked by an absence of violence. The union leaders insist the strike will ultimately be won by the men.

UNITED STATES IS WATCHING AFFAIRS IN CUBA CLOSELY

Government Will Follow Movements of Rebels and May Intervene to Protect Americans if Necessary.

Washington, D. C., May 31.—The arrival of General Montenegro at the front as the commander-in-chief of the Cuban federal forces is being closely watched here.

Should the rebel bands continue to attack foreign property it is possible the United States will send a fleet of small vessels to various points bordering on the rebel zone to have marines on hand for immediate action.

President Taft holds the view that the executive without further legislation by congress has ample authority for intervention in Cuba when necessary. He so advised the Cuban relations committee of the senate today in connection with the Dacan resolution designed to supplement the Platt amendment by enacting specific "authority of law" for what now would be an "assumed authority" to intervene.

Havana, May 31.—The government declares that it still has no news from the front and does not expect an important movement until tonight or tomorrow.

PARIS IS EN FETE FOR HOLLAND'S QUEEN

Queen Wilhelmina to Arrive in French Capital Tomorrow for Three Days Official Visit.

Paris, May 31.—Queen Wilhelmina of the Netherlands, accompanied by Prince Consort, will arrive in Paris tomorrow for a three days' official visit. Elaborate preparations have been completed for the reception and entertainment of the royal visitors.

The coming of the Dutch-Queen has aroused extraordinary interest among the Parisians, which is scarcely to be wondered at in view of the fact that Wilhelmina will be the first queen in her own right to be received in Paris since Queen Victoria's last official visit here nearly half a century ago.

The city is already donning gala attire in anticipation of the Queen's arrival. The Place de l'Opera and the boulevards have been lined by huge columns bearing the arms of the Netherlands and of the City of Paris. In devising the scheme of decoration the municipal authorities concluded that, while more flags and bunting might be good enough for a king, a more delicate tribute should be paid to a queen. Consequently it was decided that the street decorations should consist as much as possible of flowers, as being more suitable to a woman sovereign.

Especially in the Avenue du Bois de Boulogne and the Champs Elysees, through which the royal visitors are to be escorted on their arrival in the city, the street decorations are strikingly beautiful, with red, white and blue flowers symbolizing the colors of the Netherlands.

The royal couple will be quartered in the D'Orsay Palace. The entertainment program includes a gala performance at the opera, visits to St. Cyr and Versailles, a state banquet and a floral festival in the Bois de Boulogne. The young Queen has especially insisted on a military review and battle maneuvers, and these will take place at St. Cyr, near Versailles, where a sort of conning tower has been especially built, whence her majesty will be able to follow all the operations.

PAYS HIGH TRIBUTE TO VETERANS OF '61

THE REV. J. W. LAUGHLIN GAVE INSPIRING MEMORIAL DAY ADDRESS.

MANY HEAR PROGRAM

Exercises at Myers Opera House Fitting and Pleading Feature of Observance Yesterday.

Glowing tributes to the veterans of the War of the Rebellion, a graphic portrayal of their hardships and struggles, and an effective presentation of their contribution to the national life and welfare were given by the Rev. J. W. Laughlin, pastor of the Presbyterian church, in his address at the Memorial Day exercises in the Myers theatre, yesterday afternoon. This was but one of the numbers in a program that was entertaining throughout, and at the same time entirely fitting to the occasion.

Headed by a life and drum corps, more than thirty members of the Grand Army of the Republic, marched to the Myers theatre from their hall, and opened the program with an old war time air on life and drum. The Rev. T. J. Roberts, pastor of the United Brethren church, gave the invocation, after which S. G. Burnham, the presiding officer, made brief remarks expressing the pleasure in the fact that three generations had taken part in the exercises at the soldiers' graves in the morning. There were, he said, the veterans of the Civil war, who had responded to the call to preserve the integrity of their country, now feeble but still filled with the old patriotism; there were the veterans of the Spanish war, who had headed the summons to maintain national honor, and defend a helpless people from oppression; and finally, there were the Boy Scouts, who would decorate the graves of their soldier fathers and grandfathers, long after they had passed away.

The Rusk Lyceum Glee club sang with full and excellent harmony the "Battle Hymn of the Republic" and "Tenting Tonight," and the entire audience rose as Prof. Emil Roethe of the high school sang the song "The Star Spangled Banner." Stanley Horwood delivered Lincoln's Gettysburg address with almost faultless enunciation and a well placed emphasis that showed a thorough appreciation of the spirit that called it forth. The Rev. T. J. Roberts gave the benediction, and the Rev. Dr. Laughlin concluded his address with the audience had joined in singing "America."

The Rev. Laughlin's address.

The address of the Rev. Laughlin was in part as follows:

"No happier custom could be instituted than that of scattering flowers on the graves of the departed soldiers to set apart one day in the year to honor their memory, and to listen to martial strains of life and drum," said the Rev. Dr. Laughlin, in opening his address.

"We are pleased to pay the soldiers tribute, to call to mind what they have accomplished, and hear their relatives tell their experiences, but we must not forget that there is a pathetic side. These men who fell in battle, or who are now among us weighed down with years and the hardships of those times; were once boys who trod our streets, and who when the summons was made stepped into the ranks with an alacrity that was inspiring. "Generation after generation plays its part and fights its battles, and then passes away. Each has its problems and difficulties to meet, and it will be in proportion as we meet ours that future generations will honor and respect us."

"As we recount these experiences our patriotism is deepened, our vision enlarged, we need not review old unimpaired and untroubled. We are here to talk of experiences that are common to us and unite us in spirit. Whatever was in the minds of the men who instituted this day we should remember that at one time there was a demand for sacrifice and that it was met. Men came forward with their lives in their hands and offered them on the altar of their country."

"I do not wish to place a garland on the brow of War, but would have you note that everything we have that is worth contending for was obtained through struggle and sacrifices."

The speaker went on to recount instances in natural life that bore out his contention and then with well chosen figures, showed the magnitude of the sacrifice that had been made in the civil war. From 350,000 to 400,000 men had fallen; 20,000 at Cold Harbor, Wisconsin sent away 121,000, one third of its population, and had written its name into the history of every great battle.

"In the War of the Rebellion a nation rose above the states. Let us not think of the soldiers as fighters only, but as the founders of a nation, as accomplishing what Garibaldi did in Italy, and Bismarck in Germany."

"This day reminds us of the time when a new epoch was opened in our history, when we discarded an old industrial order and established a new, replacing one that was unworkable and a blot on the nation by one that has advanced it. The Civil War is a landmark in our history, a turning point. Neither our social or industrial, or our political life has been the same since, but has undergone a rapid transformation."

That the problem of the immigrant was the greatest problem in American citizenship today was the opinion expressed by the Rev. Laughlin. He believed that no immigrant should be admitted to the privilege of the ballot without being able to read and write, though he did not favor an educational test for entrance. He also thought a slight property qualification for voters would simplify the suffrage problem and cause voters to act more cautiously in casting their ballots. He thought the man with no means should have no right to tax the man who had acquired them.

"A day such as this," declared the speaker in closing, brings us to understand that something more than material prosperity is necessary to good citizenship, and that the problems of the day are moral and religious problems."

SEVEN FAST EVENTS BEFORE BIG CROWD

MOTORCYCLE RACES UNDER AUSPICES OF JANESVILLE MOTORCYCLE CLUB AT TRACT 2500 SPECTATORS.

P. E. M. IS FAVORITE

Fast Machines Built By Waverly People Takes Four Firsts and Wins Cup For Fast Time in 30:50 Class.

Before more than 2,500 spectators at the grounds of the Janesville Park association yesterday afternoon, seven fast motorcycle races were held under the auspices of the Janesville Motorcycle club. The weather for the events was ideal and the track was in first class condition, allowing for some of the speediest races which have ever been held in this section.

The first race started promptly at two-thirty and the events were run with dispatch and business-like promptness which reflected most creditably on the officials in charge. C. A. Carpenter of Milwaukee, one of the best motorcycle men in the state, as referee, directed the riders and made the decisions to the satisfaction of all concerned.

In four events the P. E. M. machine, manufactured by the Waverly company of Jefferson, Wis., secured first honors. The remarkable work of this machine and its riders, Messrs. Thomas, Spitzer and Prescott, was the talk of the day and when Thomas with a 30:50, or single cylinder machine, entered the race against the Harley-Davidson and Merkle cycles of the two cylinder or 61:00 class, and took the honors in a ten-mile race with the fast time of 11:05:15, it was easy to decide who had won the laurels of the day.

The P. E. M. people were awarded the silver cup offered by Manner H. H. McDaniel for the fastest mile made by any 30:50 machine in any of the races of the afternoon. The best time made by the P. E. M. riders was by Thomas in the fifth race against the big machines making one mile in 1:45.

"M. Cafferello, of Chicago, known as 'Motorcycle Mike,' on an Indian machine, 61:00 class, was also a favorite of the day's races. To his credit was the fastest time made on the track during the day, a mile in one minute flat. He was the winner in the last two events which were matched races in place of the consolation events which had been scheduled at first."

In the second race the Flying Merkle, ridden by H. Peterson of Rockford, took the honors with the time 5:25:25.

Complete results are as follows:

Event No. 1.—Two-mile novice, 30:50 class: H. H. Spitzer, first, P. E. M.; R. J. Worthington, second, H. D.; A. Brice, third, Excelsior; time 2:30:55.

Event No. 2.—Five-mile: 61:00 class: H. Peterson, first, Merkle; C. Swanson, second, H. D.; David Johnson, third, H. D.; time 5:25:25.

Event No. 3.—Five-mile: 30:50 class: R. Thomas, first, P. E. M.; Mike Cafferello, second, Indian; time 5:43:15.

Event No. 4.—Ten-mile: 30:50 class: E. Prescott, first, P. E. M.; R. J. Worthington, second, H. D.; E. Frels, third, Merkle; time 13:21:15.

Event No. 5.—Ten-mile: 61:00 class: R. Thomas, first, P. E. M.; 30:50 machine; C. Swanson, second, H. D.; H. Peterson third, Merkle; time 11:05:15.

Event No. 6.—Five-mile: 30:50 class: Mike Cafferello, first, Indian; C. Blake, second, Indian; H. Stevens, third, Excelsior; time 5:55.

Event No. 7.—Five-mile: 61:00 class: M. Cafferello, first, Indian; C. Blake, second, Indian; H. J. Worthington, third, H. D.; time 5:41.

Following is the list of contestants entered: David Johnson, Beloit; E. A. Frels, Rockford; C. W. Blake, Beloit; E. D. Prescott, Cambridge; Carl Swanson, Rockford; R. H. Thomas, Jefferson; V. Peterson, Rockford; Mike Cafferello, Chicago; H. Peterson, Rockford; H. P. Spitzer, Jefferson; H. D. Stevens, Madison; J. E. Rhodes, Madison; R. J. Worthington, Janesville; Arthur Brice, Madison.

The results of the races yesterday were most gratifying to the members of the Janesville Motorcycle club and especially to Messrs. McDaniel and Dunwiddie who had entire charge of the management of the affair. That the interest is sufficient to warrant other race meets in the future is generally conceded, and the next attraction will be held during the Eagle's convention here in June. On June 8 Mr. McDaniel will have charge of a race meet at Evansville and on the 12th inst. he will conduct a similar race meet at Madison. Through his efforts Janesville will be placed in a conspicuous place on the motorcycle map.

SPORT SNAP SHOTS by DAN MCCARTY

The United States league about which we have heard so much in the last few weeks is dying. Until quite recently its energetic and enterprising managers tried to make us believe that the league was a baby in the very prime of health. We believed them at first, but the gasps have become so heavy and labored that we fear now its little grave will soon have to be dug. Cleveland has pulled out of the league; the Washington and New York clubs are losing money. Elsewhere games are being called off because of no attendance. Let us prepare to shag a requiem soon over the last remains of the U. S. league.

There is a credible report to the effect that officials of the American Federation of Labor will make an effort to "unionize" baseball. This is a part of the aftermath of the Detroit Tigers strike. Some of the difficulties in the path of unionization were recently expressed by Secretary Morrison of the federation. "Should the players file application for a charter," he said, "the matter would be referred to the executive committee for action. It would determine whether these ball players should be admitted into the federation. There is, however, a question of doubt in my mind. We protect the wage earner and would have to consider the classification of the players. It depends on that decision. Are they to be classed with doctors, lawyers, scientists, and professionalists or with the wage earners?"

Chan Blair, of Pontiac, Mich., has decided to retire from active baseball management. Since the Civil War the veteran has been managing teams in and around Pontiac, with the exception of a year spent at Minneapolis, when he managed a team of his own there. Chan was a member of the historic Haymakers of Troy, before the war, and played first base. After serving in the war he settled down in Pontiac, where he has since been a full-time figure coaching "Blair's Chiefs" to victory. He had intended to get into the game again this year, but on his failure to get suitable grounds made up his mind to quit.

Dick Holitzel, who has been playing a grand game for the Cincinnati Reds at first this season, is working under great difficulty, as both of his legs are so lame that he has to go into every game with his underplating wrapped tightly in bandages. He is holding on only by sheer nerve. He played only one game of ball all last season, and he wanted to beat that record this year. But his wishes in that direction probably won't be gratified.

to take the honors by a 9 to 6 score after a long game in which brilliant stick work on both sides was a feature. Britt and Blomdale as the local team's battery proved to be the mainstays of the team. Lantz and Strong were Footville's battery. [BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Indianapolis, May 31.—Joe Dawson in a National car won the 500 mile sweepstakes race here yesterday afternoon in the record time of 6:21:00. Ralph De Palma in a Mercedes "had the lead until the 180th lap when he had serious trouble and Dawson came up from six laps behind and passed the Palma who failed to finish. Totz half in a flat machine was second.

Avoiding a Cold.

Avoiding a cold is to a certain extent a matter of constitution, of habit, of manner of living and of mental hygiene. Some persons instinctively know the moment a cold begins to come on, and by stamping their feet hard on the floor and mentally defying it break it up at once. Others sit down by a hot fire and drink very hot water and get into a perspiration, and then go to bed. Others inhale very hot air before a hot wood fire for a few times. A cold is a sort of nervous disease, caused probably by nervous shock from cold air on the neck or the base of the head or abdomen or back or feet or legs. These are the parts most susceptible. By toughening the skin and its nerves they bear cold better and thus colds are avoided. The habitual cold sufferer rarely has a cold, but many do not think they can bathe regularly, and so the skin becomes more and more sensitive, until finally the very least change of air produces a bad effect.

Not Much on Pulchritude.

They were a quaint old couple, and it was evident they had never seen many cronies. All the wild things in cages interested them intensely, but the woman kept hurrying her husband along. "Hurry up John," she would say, "we don't want to miss the hippopotamus. We may never get a chance to see another of 'em." Seeing the hippopotamus was the main object of the expedition, evidently. And at last they came to the tank where the great, sleepy, piglike animal sprawled. The old woman looked at him a full minute, and her face relapsed into the bitterness of disappointed hope. "Lord," she muttered as she turned away, "ain't he plain!"

'BRAINS OF THE CUB INFIELD' THINKS HE CAN STICK IT OUT ANOTHER SEASON

Johnny Evers, the "Brains of the Cub infield," who was put out of the game last year by a nervous breakdown, believes he can stick it out this season. Which means that Chicago's infield will be a whole lot stronger this year than it was last. The big question with the Cubs just now is whether Evers will really last. He says that he has felt nothing of his breakdown, and he's playing as good a game at second this season as he did when he earned his reputation.

Made Study of Dictionary. To read a dictionary twice through for pleasure, as Lord Chatham did, is not a tempting suggestion. But there is a hint in Sir Mountstuart Grant Duff's diary of 1877, when he was doing a good deal of train traveling on the continent. "In those last days I have been exceedingly amused by Brachot's 'Etymological Dictionary,' which Henry Smith recommended to me when I was in Oxford the other day, and which is a perpetual succession of pleasant surprises. It is an admirable 'railway' book for one who can only read at the stations." As the lord said who dipped into the dictionary while waiting for Sir Walter Scott, the dictionary stories are "unco' short."—London Chronicle.

EIGHT TEAMS ENTER COMMERCIAL LEAGUE

Race for City Championship Honors Will Open Tomorrow With Four Games.

With eight teams entered in the Commercial League for the season which opens tomorrow, indications point to one of the hottest contested races for the championship that has been seen in the league for some time. The new teams to enter are the Janesville Machine Company nine and the Recorder Printing company's aggregation. The games which were scheduled for tomorrow by the schedule committee in their meeting at the Y. M. C. A. last night were: At the fair grounds: Recorder and Lewis Knitting company; Gazette and Parker Pen company. At Athletic park: Janesville Machine company and Hanson company; C. & N. roundhouse and Y. M. C. A. Games will be called at both parks at one-thirty. Dr. G. B. Thuermer and Chas. Eckert and R. Knight and Donald McMurray were named official league umpires at the managers' meeting last night. Arrangements have also been made with manager Murphy of the Janesville "Traction" company to run the South Franklin street twenty minute schedule direct to the parks which will afford excellent transportation facilities. A charge of 15 cents for two games will be made by the management to defray the expenses of the league.

LAKOTAS OVERCOME ODDS AND WIN FROM ARISTOS

Schwartz Does Some Heavy Hitting For Janesville Club and Beloit Hosts Lose 9 to 6. In the annual ball game between Lakota Club of this city and the Aristo Club of the Lima City, which was held at Elmwood park yesterday afternoon, the Lakota club nine defeated the team representing their district hosts by the score of 9 to 6. The Aristos started out at a winning pace and had a total of four runs to their opponent's zero in the first six innings. Schwartz, however, proved the salvation of the Lakota team and with a timely bingle in the seventh with two men on bases started the onslaught which resulted in nine runs in three innings. Green did good work on the mound for the Lakotas.

JANESVILLE WHITE SOX WIN GAME AT FOOTVILLE.

Local Ball Players Are Victors by 9 to 6 Score in Spite of Several Serious Bingles. Errors which meant runs were omitted by members of both teams in the game at Footville yesterday between the Janesville White Sox and the Footville nine. The local team managed

THE FLY CATHECHISM.

"1. Where is the fly born? In manure and filth.

"2. Where does the fly live? In every kind of filth.

"3. Is anything too filthy for the fly to eat? No.

"4. (a) Where does he go when he leaves the vault and the manure pile and the spittoon? Into the kitchen and dining room. (b) What does he do there? He walks on the bread, fruit, and vegetables; he wipes his feet on the butter and bathes in the butter milk.

"5. Does the fly visit the patient sick with consumption, typhoid fever, and cholera infantum? He does—and may call on you next.

"6. Is the fly dangerous? He is man's worst pest and more dangerous than wild beasts or rattlesnakes.

"7. What diseases does the fly carry? He carries typhoid fever, tuberculosis, and summer complaint. How? On his wings and hairy feet. What is his correct name? Typhoid fly.

"8. How shall we kill the fly? (a) Destroy all the filth about the house and yard; (b) pour lime into the vault and on the manure; (c) kill the fly with a wire-screen paddle, or sticky paper, or kerosene oil.

"9. Kill the fly in any way, but KILL THE FLY.

This homely but very suggestive list of questions and answers was adopted last year by the city of Indianapolis as a creed. It proved very effective, as a fly exterminator, and deserves a place in every home. "Swat the fly" is the command issued by everybody to everybody and about the only general order which never gives offense. The swatting season is near at hand and it will soon be time to get busy. It is said that everything was created for some good purpose, but the fly has lost his credentials, with nobody to vouch for him.

IDLE TALK.

The flush of victory in Ohio and New Jersey has led to a good deal of idle talk on the part of Colonel Roosevelt and the men who are managing his campaign. The colonel has called the Illinois delegation to Oyster Bay for a conference, and threats are freely offered that efforts will be made to capture the Chicago convention.

It is suggested that members of the national committee, who are supporting the administration, will be asked to resign in favor of men whom Roosevelt may select. The fact is ignored that the last work of a national convention is to elect a committee composed of one representative from each state, with duties well defined and long established by custom.

The committee elected at the close of the last convention, will have entire charge of the Chicago convention. Their first duty is to the great national party whose interests they represent, and to whom they are responsible. They will pass on all contested delegations with unbiased judgment and their decision will be final.

Colonel Roosevelt, understanding party and party law, as well as any man, and however ambitious he may be for the nomination, he can ill-afford to encourage lawlessness. The "Tough Rider" won his spurs and is entitled to the laurels, which he has enjoyed in rich measure, but the national convention demands no deed of heroism, except loyalty and wholehearted respect for the rights of others.

More miles of railroad are in process of construction this year than at any time during the past four years, and more money is being spent for rolling stock and equipment. Much of this activity is confined to the west, where preparations are being made to handle a bumper crop, which now seems assured. The steel mills of the east are loaded with orders and many of them are working overtime, which all goes to show that business is of more importance than politics.

President Taft is still confident that he will win, at the Chicago convention, and Colonel Roosevelt is already planning for his cabinet. Senator La Follette will attempt to cut a wide swath in making the platform, while his colleague, Senator Cummins, of Iowa, will sit tight, prepared for any sort of an emergency. There will be something doing all along the line and the outcome is open to speculation.

The high cost of living fades away like a daisy when the family decides to buy an automobile and almost any kind of an income warrants the investment. Janesville people are not extravagant but they do believe in having a good time, and that is the right way to live. Join the procession and buy a car and add another thousand or so to the half million already invested in this class of vehicles.

More than one hundred plates were spread at the golf ground clubhouse last night and the dance which followed was enjoyed by a large company of pleasure-seekers. The course was well patronized during the day. The grounds were never more attractive and the outlook for the season is promising. This choice playground should be more thoroughly appreciated by Janesville people.

The latest plan for tariff reduction comes from a southern representative in the shape of a bill which provides for a sliding scale, starting with ten per cent, January 1, 1913, and five per cent additional the first of each succeeding January, for four years. The plan might be all right at that. It would give time for readjustment of business, and prevent serious disturbance.

The Texas and Pacific railroad reports that 180 miles of its track is out of commission, on account of the flood, and that 1,500,000 acres of land adjacent is under water. Much of this land was under cultivation and many homes have been deserted, but the area is so small, compared with the great state of Texas, that the loss to the country will be insignificant.

Heart to Heart Talks.

By EDWIN A. NYE.

THE PULL THAT PULLS.

"But I have no pull."

"That was what my young friend said when I advised him to apply at a certain place for a job.

I did not say to him what I thought. No pull?

Why, he had a pull—a tremendous pull. He had a pull on his own strength and persistence and skill and unflinching and self-respect on his own pluck and patience and push.

He was making special favors. Did he know the danger of specific privileges?

Nine times in ten there is a string tied to such preferences.

Beware of the pull, young man.

You are expected to return exceptional favors extended to you. And when it comes to trading favors what guarantee have you that you will receive as much—or more—in the exchange?

He who grants you one concession is likely to ask of your civility two in return.

Desires—

In the many attitude of him who asks no preferential chance beyond that he merits there is great force. To him who succeeds of himself there comes a sense of self-respect that never comes to him who courts the smiles and aid of others.

"I have no pull."

The expression, which is all too common, reveals a habit of looking for exclusive privilege that is wrong in principle and vicious in practice.

Equality of opportunity is of the substance of democracy. No man has the right to demand more than a fair chance and an open field.

No pull?

Why should you receive some extraordinary friendship devoted to others? Why should you be excused from requirements for which others are made to pay?

The pull that you use may become the pull back once you exercise it.

The pull that pulls?

Merit! Merit alone!

When you pull that string something must move. When you pull that string the other end of it is not to be found in the hands of some other than you.

The Pacifistic Bachelor.

"The man or woman," writes the correspondent of a Chicago newspaper, "who enters matrimony on the 12-a-week basis is running a big risk." Confirmed bachelors will probably move to amend by striking out the words "on the 12-a-week basis."

The Annual Massacre.

Just about this time each spring, the weather does the same old thing.

It rises in its frigid night.

And kills the peaches over night.

The pessimists arise to howl.

And curse the climate good, and growl.

The outlook's always mighty bad.

And each spring is the worst we've had.

There's not a pear tree or a plum.

That has not been put on the bum.

And all the summer's prospects

Were killed.

But, following this sad refrain,

The fruit crop's always born again.

Men's Dress.

Men are dressed as they are chiefly because fewer of them look ridiculous so clothed than they would in any other costume. Modern dress is merciful to men; it gives no undue advantage to the well-built and handsome and detracts from their appearance and modifies the figures of those not blessed with a fine physique.

Virtue in Waters of the Ganges.

Native of India have held for centuries that the waters of the River Ganges are blessed and healing to those who bathe therein. A scientist says: "I have discovered that the water of the Ganges and the Jumna is hostile to the growth of the cholera microbe, not only owing to the absence of food materials, but also owing to the actual presence of an antibiotic that has the power of destroying this microbe."

Strange Custom of the Harem.

Every woman in the harem has her face decorated in the most curious manner. The practice is to elongate the eyebrows to the ears and to embellish the chin with little points of black paint. In contrast with the men, their complexions are very fair, as they are shut within walls and are never exposed to the sun.

A New Cure.

A doctor whose practice has mostly in the country districts was recently called to attend a plowman's boy, whom he found to be suffering from whooping cough. Among his instructions he told the mother to "put some ice in a bag and tie it around the boy's head." Next day he called again and was met at the door by the girl's wife, who, in answer to his query, replied, "Aye, Jockie's a heap better the day, but the mices are a' doid."—Dundee Weekly News.

Must Please Women.

An English periodical says that it is women that make the success of the stage, as they are the great patrons. Where they go the men are bound to follow, and it is necessary, first of all, that a play shall succeed, to make it interesting to the women. The facts prove this to be true in this country as well.

COMMITTED SUICIDE DURING ATTACK OF MELANCHOLIA TODAY

Charles Crall, Despondent Through Long Illness, Ended His Life at Home on South Jackson Street Early This Morning.

In a fit of melancholia, brought on by prolonged illness, Charles Crall, aged forty, ended his life early this morning by hanging himself from a rafter in the barn at his residence at 202 South Jackson street. The body was found about four o'clock this morning by Mrs. Crall and her son, Vernon, who had missed Mr. Crall and were searching for him. They cut the body down and called a physician in the hope of resuscitating the man, but although the body was still warm, life was extinct.

Shortly after he moved to this city from the town of Center, two years ago, Mr. Crall was taken seriously ill, and very nearly succumbed to his illness. He never fully recovered his strength and for the past three weeks he had been afflicted with melancholia, necessitating constant care and watching on the part of his family.

Mr. and Mrs. Crall had been talking together at three o'clock this morning, but she soon fell asleep, overcome by physical weariness produced by the continual strain under which she has been placed. She awakened suddenly to find her husband gone. Arousing her son, they began a search for Mr. Crall, finding his body in the upper part of the barn. By climbing onto a pile of eight or nine bales of hay, he had been able to attach one end of a hitch strap to a rafter and had jumped from the pile. The body had been hanging about twenty minutes, it is thought, when found.

Mr. Crall had been ill for the past year and a half. At times there seemed to be much improvement in his health, but in the past two weeks he had failed rapidly.

He was born May 6, 1872, in the town of Center, and had resided there most of his life. He was united in marriage on February 10, 1892, to Miss Edna Williams of this city. Besides the widow he is survived by two children, Vernon and Frances Crall, by an aged father, Christopher Crall, and one sister, Mrs. James Harper, all of this city. He was a member of the Christian church at Center, and his life had been devoted to deeds of kindness, unselfishness and thoughtfulness for everyone with whom he came in contact. The sympathy of a large circle of friends is extended to the family in their bereavement.

Notice of the funeral will be given later.

INSPECTING YARDS IN VARIOUS WARDS

Ward Committees of Twilight Club Making Preliminary Tours for Reports on Yards Entered in Prize Contest.

Sub-committees of the Twilight club, in charge of the work of inspecting the yards about the homes in Janesville, entered in the contest for the thirty-five prizes offered by the club for the yard showing the greatest improvement during the months of June, July and August, commenced their work on Wednesday, and expect to have it completed some time the first of next week. Already the auxiliary committee which was given charge of the work in the first ward has completed its report, and the others will be ready within a few days.

Three hundred and fifteen contestants have been entered in the five wards of the city, an average of sixty-three in each ward. Seven prizes will be distributed among the contestants in each ward, the award of prizes being made to the seven homes in each ward in which the greatest improvement in appearance is shown. The final decisions of the committees will be made on September 1st.

The work is in charge of a general committee of the Twilight club, composed of: F. W. Worthington, chairman; George Kimball, R. J. Hart, F. P. Starr, and Francis Grant, Mr. Starr taking the place of M. P. Richardson, who is unable to serve on the committee. Each of the members of this committee with two other gentlemen act as the ward committees to inspect the yards. The members of the ward committees are as follows:

First ward: George Kimball, F. S. Haines, and F. E. Lane.

Second ward: Francis Grant, Amos Reiberg, and H. L. McNamara.

Third ward: R. J. Hart, T. E. Benison, and F. A. Blackman.

Fourth ward: F. P. Starr, T. O. Howe, and H. J. Cunningham.

Fifth ward: F. W. Worthington, Sanford Soverhill, and C. H. Weirick.

Voice of the People.

To the Editor of the Gazette:

Dear Sir:

I have noticed with no little interest that the city has ordinances compelling owners to put in cement sidewalks and curbs and I think this is all right as I am out for improvements, first, last and always. I am the owner of several lots alongside of which I have planted very expensive trees and these are being destroyed by cars being tied to them or so near to them they are broken off or skinned with the result that they soon die. I respectfully request you to let me know through your paper if there is any city ordinance which will help me preserve my trees and property in this one respect. I have no objection to boarding this stock but I do not want my property destroyed.

Signed,

A CITIZEN.

The city ordinance of Janesville do not prohibit and provide no penalty for the offense of tethering horses and cows or other animals to trees on the property of another than the owner. The persons whose trees are injured in this manner will have to seek a remedy through a civil action for damages. Undoubtedly the offense comes under the head of trespass.

CURIOUS BITS OF HISTORY

A QUEER LITTLE ENGLISH KING.

By A. W. MACY. When Sir Robert Walpole awakened George-Augustus, prince of Wales, out of a sound sleep to inform him that his father, George I., was dead, the prince exclaimed: "Dot is von pig lie." Of all the monarchs who have sat upon the throne of England, George I. was perhaps the most ridiculous. He was a fat little Dutchman with a slender intellect and an overpowering sense of his own importance. Had he been a private individual, he would have been looked upon with contempt. His morals were very loose—"a dull little man with low tastes," Thackeray calls him. But he had an excellent wife, who was far superior to him in every way. He did not know it, but in most things he yielded her absolute obedience. These lines were often quoted in those days: "You may strut, dapper George, but 'twill all be in vain; We know 'tis Queen Caroline, not you, that reign."

He had little sympathy with the English people, and was always going back to Hanover. At one time he remained away from England two whole years, but was not greatly missed.

COX WANTS TO BE OHIO'S GOVERNOR

James M. Cox.

If the people of Ohio want James M. Cox to be their governor they won't have to take any harsh measures to compel him to accept the job. Cox has announced that he will take it without urging. In fact, he is an active candidate. According to the congressional directory, Cox is a Democrat from Dayton; he was born on a farm; worked as a farmer's boy, newspaper, printer's devil, and reporter; is married and has three children; is the owner and publisher of the Dayton Daily News and the Springfield Daily News; was elected to the Sixty-first Congress and re-elected to the Sixty-second Congress. ## THOUGH PRESSED WITH CARES OF STATE, KAISER FINDS TIME FOR GRANDCHILDREN

Kaiser William and his grandchildren.

It isn't any small thing to run a big country like Germany, and when one does it as well as Kaiser William it would hardly seem that there would be any time left to play with children. The German emperor, however, no matter how busy he may be with cares of state, can always find a little time for his grandchildren. They are a bright lot, as the might guess from the above photograph, which is the very latest.

Our values in summer underwear and hosiery have a place apart in the esteem of Janesville people. They have not been matched outside of this store. There has seldom been an effort to equal them. A business of large proportions has been built up in these two departments. Now a cool May has set the underwear makers to unloading stocks and several remarkable lots of hosiery have been bought in the past few days. The result is that tomorrow will present values which even here make a new record in some instances, and in almost every instance reach the best we have ever done.

The point on which we wish to lay special stress is the thorough reliability of all the goods, and the fact that no matter how low the price of a garment may be, it will surely give good wear.

THE GRACE OF GOD; TWO PENTECOSTS

One For the Church, the Other
For the World.

Pastor Russell in Chicago Took For His Text, "The Grace of God Which Bringeth Salvation Hath Appeared For All Men" (Titus II, 11)—Corrects a Common Error Regarding the Fate of the Non-elect.

Chicago, May 20th.—Pastor Russell gave two addresses here today. We report one of his addresses, on "Pentecostal Blessings," from the text: "The grace of God which bringeth salvation hath appeared for all men." (Titus II, 11.) He said in part:

Two Salvations—Two Pentecosts. A more careful study of the Bible is revealing to God's people all over the world the fact that He has for mankind two distinct salvations, one for the Church, the other for the world, and each of these salvations is introduced by a Pentecostal blessing. That the Church is merely a "first-fruits unto God of His creatures" is distinctly stated by St. James (1, 18), and this implies most positively that there will be after-fruit.

Note the Apostle's statement respecting the efficacy of Christ's sacrifice, both for the Church and for the world—"He is a propitiation for our sins (the Church), and not for ours only, but also for the sins of the whole world." (1 John 1, 2.)

This does not signify that all will gain everlasting life on the same plane of glory. The change of nature from human to divine is a part of the superior blessing provided by the Lord for those who now walk by faith in the footsteps of the Redeemer. The blessings to the world will not include a change of nature, but a restoration of the willing and obedient to human perfection, such as Adam enjoyed before he sinned.

Many of us had not noticed until recently that two Pentecostal blessings are mentioned by the Prophet. Our overlooking this was doubtless because it was not due time for this feature to be clearly understood. Now, as the time nears for the fulfillment of the second Pentecostal blessing, the force and meaning of the Scripture shines out. Before making known the riches of His grace to the world God has been pleased to foreordain the election of the Church, to be joint-heirs with Jesus in the glorious work of blessing earth's teeming millions.

Notice the text: "It shall come to pass, with the Lord, at the end of these days, that I will pour out My Spirit upon all flesh, . . . and in those days I will pour out My Spirit upon My servants and upon My handmaidens" (Joel II, 28; Acts II, 17). St. Peter, in quoting the prophecy, properly applied only the portion which was due in his day, namely, that portion applicable to the servants and handmaidens of the Lord. The two features of the prophecy are distinctly marked—one blessing to be upon God's servants and handmaidens only, the other to be upon all flesh. "The one was to be 'in those days,' the other, 'after those days.'"

Jubilee Day—Jubilee Year. The Day of Pentecost was the grand Jubilee Day, in which God's blessing was attained, marking the forgiveness of sin and the acceptance by the Heavenly Father. It was the 50th day (7 x 7 plus 1). Every Jewish Sabbath pointed to this Jubilee Day as the culmination of the Sabbath day system. The word "Sabbath" signifies rest and this culmination of the Sabbath days in a fiftieth signified the completeness of the rest.

But it will be remembered that in the Law given to Israel there was not only a seven-day series of Sabbaths, but also a seven-year series of Sabbaths. Each seventh year was a Sabbath year, leading up to a Jubilee (7 x 7 plus 1). As the day Sabbath reached a glorious culmination for the Church, so the year Sabbath will reach a glorious climax for the world. The fiftieth year was the Jubilee. In that year all debts were cancelled, and all who had been sold into slavery for debt went free.

This pictured the coming blessings—the Day of Messiah, when He shall reign and when through the merit of His sacrifice all sin will be forgiven and all slavery to sin and death will be abolished. This is not a new thought. Centuries ago Bible students discerned that the Jubilee of Israel's time was a feature of the Law foreshadowing a blessing world-wide. It was with this knowledge that our beautiful hymn was written: "Blow Ye the Trumpet, Blow."

Church Social: The ladies of the Baptist church held a social in the church parlors this afternoon. An interesting program was given and light refreshments were served.

Hypocrisy and Sincerity. Matt. vi:1-18.
Golden Text—Take heed that ye do not your righteousness before men, to be seen of them; else ye have no reward of your Father who is in heaven. Matt. viii.

(1) Verses 1-4—Is it or not, and why, always wrong to let people know the fact and the amount of our gifts to benevolence?
(2) If we give to the cause of God gladly and to the extent of our ability, should we seek to hide the fact or be willing to have it known, and why?
(3) If we give more to a good cause when our gifts are made public than when they are not, are we or not, and why, necessarily hypocritical?

(4) If we give secretly or otherwise with the expectation of being rewarded by God, is our motive noble or ignoble, and why? (This is one of the questions which may be answered in writing by members of the club.)

(5) Verses 5-6—If a person prays in public for the sake of being heard, what sort of man is he?

(6) If a person prays longer and with more fervor in public than he does in private, what sort of man is he?

(7) If Jesus here does not condemn praying in public, what does he condemn?

(8) What are the benefits of private prayer?

(9) Why is it impossible for a person to be a Christian who does not have private communion with God?

(10) Verses 7-8—What benefit is a form of words in prayer, even if appropriate, if the heart and mind are not in the prayer?

(11) How do you reconcile the fact that Jesus prayed all night long with the instructions he here gives concerning prayer?

(12) If the Heavenly Father knows what we have need of before we ask him, what is the need or benefit of praying?

(13) Verse 9—Does Jesus give what we call the Lord's Prayer as an example of brevity or as a form to be used, or both?

(14) Verses 10-13—What and how many petitions does the Lord's Prayer include?

(15) What things are we to pray for and in what order of importance according to this model prayer?

(16) Verses 14-15—May we take it as literally true and without exception that if we forgive all those who have injured us God forgives us? Give your reasons.

(17) If we do not forgive others, but pray earnestly to God to forgive us, what will be the result?

(18) Verses 16-18—Why is it that fasting is very rarely taught in these days?

(19) What is the benefit of fasting? Is fasting in the way Jesus here directs obligatory upon Christians?

The price is to be $17.50. The suits equal the $35 and $40 productions of custom tailors in fineness of making, in distinction of pattern, in correctness of cut, in quality of fabric. No greater opportunity has been presented to the men and young men of Janesville and vicinity than these suits at $17.50.

FRUIT CROP OUTLOOK IS MOST FLATTERING

Reports From Northern Part of the State Show Fruits Are Doing Finely.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Ashland, Wis., May 31.—The fruit crop in northern Wisconsin will be the largest ever known in the Lake Superior region. Conditions have been absolutely perfect fruit men say. Late spring held the vegetation back until all danger from frost was entirely gone.

The blueberry crop will run into thousands of bushels. The entire country adjacent to Lake Superior is one vast field of blueberries. They cover all the swamps and fields. Ordinarily weather conditions combining an early fall and a late spring have caused more or less injury to the crop, but even in poor years hundreds of bushels of the berries go to waste. The crop covers such a wide territory that it is impossible to gather it. During the last year a more systematic arrangement has been made for harvesting it. Men and women go out with tents and spend several days during the berry season. Extra cars have to be put on the trains to carry the berry pickers. The red raspberry and blackberry crop is also expected to be very large. The crop of tame fruit will also be phenomenally large this year. Last season $65,000 worth of strawberries were marketed from the village of Bayfield and conditions are much better this year. Warehouses have been established at Bayfield, Crofton and Melon and steps are being taken to establish one at Ashland. The fruit raisers are more organized to cope with conditions this year.

Several hundred cherry and apple trees have been planted this year. The wild cranberry marshes of Northern Wisconsin and the wild rice fields give promise of a large return next fall. In fact, the crop will make a record.

BRITISH CAPITALISTS TO MAKE TOUR OF CANADA

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

London, May 31.—Three scores of eminent representatives of British capital and industry sailed from Liverpool on the steamship Empress, of British today for Canada. The party is the most notable of its kind that ever left England for a visit to the Dominion. The London Chamber of Commerce and the trades bodies of many of the principal cities of the provinces are represented. Other members of the delegation include the chairmen or managing directors of many of the leading industrial concerns of Great Britain.

The party will arrive on June 6 at Quebec and from that point will begin their tour of the Dominion. The delegation will travel from coast to coast, seeing all that there is to be seen and observing all along the route what openings there are for the development of British trade and the location of British industries in Canada.

ORDER OF POLISH FALCONS CONVENTION AT GLASSPORT

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

McKeesport, Pa., May 31.—With hundreds of delegates in attendance the fraternal order of the Polish Falcons of the United States and Canada began its biennial convention today in the neighboring town of Glassport. The entire Polish population of western Pennsylvania turned out for the occasion. All the prominent officers and members of the organization were on hand, but out of consideration for the telegraphers and composers their names are omitted. Tomorrow morning the delegates will have a big street parade in McKeesport, followed by an afternoon of outdoor sports at Olympia park.

SAYS LA FOLLETTE MUST QUIT SENATE

Eugene W. Chaffin Declares He Has No Chance for Presidency While in United States Senate.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Madison, Wis., May 31.—"If Senator La Follette wants to be president of the United States, he ought to resign his seat in the senate, come back to Wisconsin, and in 1914 become a candidate for governor. He should keep on the chautauqua platform, for that will keep him close to the people. If he had been governor of Wisconsin in the past two years he would be nominated for president this year."

This is the statement of Eugene W. Chaffin of Tucson, Arizona, probable prohibition candidate for president and a former Wisconsin man, in an interview here yesterday. Chaffin and La Follette attended the University of Wisconsin together and are close personal friends. Mr. Chaffin bases his conclusions in reference to Senator La Follette on nearly one hundred years of historical precedent.

"While Senator La Follette is in the United States senate he cannot be elected president," continued Mr. Chaffin. "Since 1816, when Rufus King, a United States senator, was a candidate for the presidency, every senator who has tried to get the nomination, or if nominated sought to be elected, has been defeated. In all forty or fifty United States senators have since 1816 either tried to be nominated or elected. In every case they have failed. Blaine, while a United States senator, was defeated for the nomination; Henry Clay was twice defeated while United States senator, and a similar fate came to Lewis Cass, John Sherman, Allison, Chauncey Depew, and others. The reason is that when a man gets into the United States senate he gets away from the people."

During the past month Mr. Chaffin has made nearly a hundred speeches in Wisconsin for the prohibition cause. He is also interested somewhat in the fight now being made in Wisconsin for woman's suffrage. "Recently I have spoken in five or six states that have equal suffrage," he said, "and in every state you could never get those people to go back to the plan of male suffrage only. The sentiment in those states is too strong ever to think of asking for its repeal."

TEN THOUSAND FURRIERS MAY GO OUT ON STRIKE

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

New York, May 31.—Here's where the long-suffering public has a chance to laugh. The price of coal has advanced and now it is learned that fur coats, muffs and neckpieces are likely to cost more, just as if anyone cared—at the beginning of summer. The recent miners' strike boosted the price of coal and the same cause is expected to send the price of furs skyward. The 10,000 men and women employed in the manufacture of fur garments are dissatisfied with conditions as they exist and a general strike is threatened. The officers of the Furriers' international union will meet in this city tomorrow to take a ballot on the question of calling a general strike. The eight-hour workday, increases in wages averaging 25 per cent and recognition of the union, are the points involved.

TRAINING SCHOOL NOTES.

Class night exercises, the opera "Sylvia," Wednesday evening, June 12; commencement program, Thursday evening, June 13. Both programs in the Episcopal hall, near Court street.

Supt. O. D. Antbold gave our young women a very helpful talk Monday forenoon on the keeping of records and the sending in of reports. The students were told exactly how to keep all school records. Supt. Antbold has received well-merited approval of the excellence of his own records as county superintendent of schools. It is safe to say that in no county in Wisconsin are the various statistical data kept in better form than in Rock county.

Each member of the graduating class will be responsible for a certain number of people to make up the audience at commencement time.

Miss Jacobson spent all day Friday visiting the Whitewater normal school, particularly the department which trains teachers for country schools.

Principal F. J. Lowth put in the day Wednesday inspecting the work of the Green county training school at Monroe. He found the visit of much profit as well as pleasure. Mr. Lowth spoke to the students on "The Fine Art of Criticism."

Our last series of tests is completed and now the final examinations will occur on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday of next week.

Some very useful drill charts for the work in the fundamental rules in arithmetic have been prepared and used by our practice teachers.

The senior class spent Friday visiting country schools in various parts of Rock county. Next week reports will be made upon these visits and these reports will be discussed in class conferences.

Miss Edna Johnson of Beloit, who visited our school a couple of weeks ago has sent us some cotton and cotton seeds which she brought home from the south.

The material for the souvenir page in The Gazette is being prepared and will be ready in a few days.

Our students presented a literary program Wednesday afternoon which we publish herewith.

Our picnic committee has decided to have our closing picnic before long somewhere up the river. A little warmer weather would be more favorable for picnics, probably.

Some of our country girls have been teaching the city people how to hoe a garden properly. Keeping the soil well loosed up seems to be a very important factor in garden success, to say nothing about keeping the weeds down.

The seniors have written excellent essays upon professional topics. We think such work is valuable.

WEST CENTER

West Center May 30.—The worst hail storm in years struck this place Tuesday afternoon. Although it lasted only about fifteen minutes the ground was almost covered. Some of the pieces were at least an inch in diameter, but as there was no wind no serious damage was done.

THE CLAIRVOYANT.
(By Howard L. Rahn.)

THE clairvoyant is a person who informs citizens what they are about to get and where they are going to get it. Our most successful clairvoyants are ladies whose ancestors foretold every event in human history, from the fall of man to the Judgment day, and their mission is to let people in on the ground floor. There is intense and unlimited rivalry among clairvoyants. It is getting so that no great disaster or failure in the even crop can occur without having four or five clairvoyants show up in 48-point Chautauque and claim they saw it first. Every once in a while some clairvoyant prognosticator will fall to brag and boast a trustful patron out of his wheat purchase, and this operates to reduce the attendance. The clairvoyant who is not a graduate of some correspondence school can tell at a glance whether a portion expects to try into the future with a $2 or is willing to pay a fair price for a diagram of the stock market one week from Tuesday. Whenever a clairvoyant looks into somebody's hand and foretells a better explosion or an attack of love at first sight and delivers the article specified, the price of admission goes up. Some clairvoyants are quite matter of fact in their operations and get down to business as soon as the offering has been taken, while others lurk behind a Japanese screen in a sabbath kimono and go into the sulphurous trance before projecting themselves into the stock market. The highest priced clairvoyant in the market is the seventh son of the seventh son, who wears Turkish trousers and a faraway look and will contract to forecast anything from falling hair to the outcome of the presidential election. No clairvoyant will read more than three or four days in the future of anybody who is of a sordid and grasping nature and comes to the studio with small change and a skeptical mind. If you want action, take along a large, yellow bill and expose it carefully to the light of day.

MEAT NOT NECESSARY FOR HIGHEST EFFICIENCY.

Sir Henry Thompson, an eminent English authority on diet, says: "It is an error to regard meat in any form as necessary to life." Many who know that flesh is not necessary to life yet think that greater strength and endurance can be attained by eating liberally of flesh. That this is not correct should be evident by comparing the strength, grace and endurance of the carnivorous and vegetable eating animals as the lion and the horse, or by comparing the physical and intellectual accomplishment of men who have abstained from flesh with those of the abstemious who have eaten meat. The fact that many have discontinued the use of meat and found themselves less efficient is not a fair test, because sudden changes are always injurious. It does not follow that because a man who has been in the habit of using intoxicants finds himself unable to accomplish as much after discontinuing their use, that they are therefore beneficial.

GOVERNMENT STARTS IN TO RAISE BIG TREE SEEDLINGS

The Forest Service is raising several acres of big tree seedlings on the Tahoe National Forest in California, at a more northerly point than any natural big tree grove. While the sequoias are found in the forests of the Sierras at various points throughout a total range of some two hundred and fifty miles, in the northern two-thirds of this range there is practically no natural reproduction. It has consequently been a question whether the species would not practically disappear from this region when the present mature trees die. The most northern existing grove of big trees is on the Tahoe Forest, but about thirty-four miles southeast of the site selected for planting. This site is on a moist flat not far from Nevada City, and is about two thousand, seven hundred feet above sea level. The first seedling was done in the fall of 1910, with very successful results, and last fall an additional area was seeded.

The method used in planting the seed was that known to foresters as the "seed spot method." Spots about six feet square each way were prepared by pulverizing the earth with a garden hoe. Seeds were then dropped on these spots and lightly pressed in the soil with the foot. The flourishing condition of the young seedlings gives good reason to expect a future growth of big trees at this point. With protection of forests from fire there seems to be no reason why the big trees should disappear, even though seedlings regard them as survivors from a past age, botanically speaking.

Parasites.

The Parasites refuse to burn or bury the bodies of their dead because they consider a dead body impure, and they will not suffer themselves to defile any of the elements. Hence, their "Towers of Silence," 50 or 60 feet in height, on which the bodies of the dead are left to be devoured by the vultures; the bones afterward being thrown into a receptacle and covered with charcoal.

How to be Certain of Curing Constipation

Prejudice is a hard thing to overcome, but where health is at stake and the opinion of thousands of reliable people differs from yours, prejudice then becomes your menace and you ought to lay it aside. This is said in the interest of people suffering from chronic constipation, and it is worthy of their attention.

In the opinion of legions of reliable American people the most stubborn constipation imaginable can be cured by a brief use of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. You may not have heard of it before, but do not doubt its merits on that account, or because it has not been blatantly advertised. It has sold very successfully on word of mouth recommendation. Parents are giving it to the children today who were given it by their parents, and it has been truthfully said that more drugstore use is personally in their families than any other laxative.

Letters recently received from Mr. E. M. Connelly, Genoa, Ill., and Mrs. E. Dolch, Hatfield, Wis., are but a few of thousands showing the esteem in which Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is held. It is mild, gentle, non-gripping—not violent, like salts or cathartics. It cures gradually and pleasantly, so that in time nature again does its own work without outside aid. Constipated people owe it to themselves to use this grand bowel specific.

Anyone wishing to make a trial of this remedy before buying it in the regular way of a druggist at fifty cents or one dollar, a large bottle (usually a six) can have a sample bottle sent to the home free of charge by simply addressing Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 405 Washington St., Monticello, Ill. Your name and address on a postal card will do.

CHAPTER XIII.

Wherein Elvora Has More Financial Troubles, and Her Mother Again Refuses to Help Her.

THE next night Elvora hurried to Sinton's. She threw open the back door and searched Margaret's face with anxious eyes.

"You got it?" panted Elvora. "You got it? I can see by your face that you did. Oh, give it to me!"

"Yes, I got it, honey—I got it all right, but don't be so fast. You can't have it before Saturday. It had been kept in such a damp place it needed drying. It had to have strings, and a key was gone. I knew how much you wanted it, so I sent Wesley right to town with it. They said they could fix it good as new, but it should be varnished and that it would take several days for the glue to set. You can have it Saturday."

"Saturday morning?"

"No just Saturday. But, Elvora, you've got to promise me that you will leave it here, or in town, and not let your mother get a hint of it. I don't know what she'd do."

"Uncle Wesley can bring it here until Monday. Then I will take it to school so that I can practice at noon. Oh, I don't know how to thank you."

Elvora lived by the minute until Saturday, when, contrary to her usual custom, Sinton went to town in the forenoon, taking her along to buy some groceries. Sinton drove straight to the music store and asked for the violin he had left to be mended.

In its new coat of varnish, with new keys and strings, it looked greatly like any other violin to Sinton, but to Elvora it was the most beautiful instrument ever made and a priceless treasure. She held it in her arms, touched the strings softly and then she drew the bow across them in whispering measure. She had no time to think what a remarkably good bow it was for sixteen years' use. The tan leather case might have impressed her as being in fine condition also had she been in a state to question anything.

She Draw the Bow Across Them in Whispering Measure.

She did remember to ask for the bill and she was gravely presented with a slip calling for four strings, one key and a coat of varnish, total $1.50.

As soon as her work was done she ran down to Sinton's and began to play, and on Monday the violin went to school with her. She made arrangements with the superintendent to leave it in his office and securely took time for her food at noon, who was so eager to practice. His skill was so great that the leader of the orchestra offered to give her lessons if she would play to pay for them, so her progress was rapid in technical work. But from the first day the instrument became hers, with perfect faith that she could play as her father did, she spent half her practice time in imitating the sounds of all outdoors and improvising the songs her happy heart sang.

So the first year went, and the second and third were a repetition; but the fourth was different, for that was the close of the course, ending with graduation and all its attendant ceremonies and expenses. To Elvora these appeared mountain high. She had hoarded every cent, thinking twice before she parted with a penny, but teaching natural history in the grades had taken time from her studies in school which must be made up outside. She was a conscientious student, ranking first in most of her classes and standing high in all the branches. Her interest in her violin had grown with the years.

Three years had changed Elvora from the girl of sixteen to the very verge of womanhood. She had grown tall, round and her face had the loveliness of perfect complexion, beautiful eyes and hair and an added touch from within that might have been called comprehension.

She was so absorbed in her classes and her music that she had not been able to gather specimens as usual. When she realized this and hunted it, she soon found that changing natural conditions had affected such work and specimens were scarce.

All the time the expense of books, clothing and incidentals had continued. Elvora added to her bank account whenever she could and drew out when she was compelled, but she omitted the important feature of calling for a balance. So she early spring morning in the last quarter of the fourth year she almost fainted when she learned that all her funds were gone.

Commeuement with its extra expense, was coming. She had no money and very few cocoons to open in June, which would be too late. She had one collection for the Bird Woman complete to a pair of Imperialis moths, and that was her only asset. On the day she added these big yellow Emperors she would get a check for $300, but she would not get it until these specimens were secured. She remembered that she never had found an Emperor before June.

Moreover, that sum was for her first year in college. Then she would be of age, and she meant to sell enough of her share of her father's land to finish. She knew her mother would oppose her bitterly in that, for Mrs. Comstock had clung to every acre and tree that belonged to her husband. Her land was almost complete forest where her neighbors owned cleared farms dotted with wells that every hour sucked oil from beneath her holdings, but she was too absorbed in the grief she nursed to know or care. The taxes for the Brushwood road and the roadroading of the great Limberlost ditch had been more than she could pay from her income, and she had tramped before the wicket as she asked the banker if she had funds to pay it and wondered why he laughed as he assured her she had, for Mrs. Comstock had spent no time on compounding interest and never added the sums she had been depositing through nearly twenty years. Now she thought her funds were almost gone, and every day she worried over expenses. She could see no reason in going through the forms of graduation when pupils had all in their hands that was required to graduate. Elvora knew she had to have her diploma in order to enter the college she wanted to attend, but she did not dare utter the word until high school was finished, for instead of worrying, as she hoped her mother had begun to do, she seemed to remain very much the same.

When the girl reached the swamp she sat on a log and thought bitterly over the absolute expense she was compelled to meet. Every member of her particular set was having an expensive photograph taken to exchange with the others. Elvora loved these girls and boys, and to say she could not have their pictures to keep was more than she could bear. Each one would give to all the others a handsome graduation present. She knew they would prepare gifts for her whether she could make a present in return or not. Then it was the custom for each graduating class to give a great entertainment and use the funds to present the school with a statue for the entrance hall. Elvora had been cast for and was practicing a part in that performance. She was expected to furnish her dress and personal necessities. She had been told that she must have a "green dress." And where was it to come from?

Every girl of the class would have three beautiful new frocks for commencement—one for the baccalaureate sermon, another, which could be plain, for graduation exercises, and a handsome one for the banquet and ball. Elvora faced the past three years and wondered how she could have spent so much money and not kept account of it. She did not realize where it had gone. She did not know what she could do now. She thought over the photographs and at last settled that question to her satisfaction. She studied longer over the gifts, ten handsome ones there must be, and at last decided she could arrange for them. The green dress came first. The lights would be dim in the scene and the setting deep woods. She could manage that. She simply could not have three dresses. She would have to get a very simple one for the sermon and do the best she could for graduation. Whatever she got for that must be made with a glimpse that could be taken out to make it a little more festive for the ball. But where could she get even two pretty dresses?

The only hope she could see was to break into her collection, sell some moths and try to replace them in June. But she knew that never would do. No June ever brought just the things she hoped. If she spent the college money she knew she could not replace it. If she did not the only way was to try for a room in the grades and teach a year. Her work there had been so appreciated that Elvora felt with the recommendation she knew she could get from the superintendent and teachers she could secure a position.

She wanted to start to college when the other girls were going. If she could make the first year alone she could manage the rest. But make that first year herself she must. Instead of selling her collection, which she must have if she was to have it, she had to have it, that was all. Also, she had to have those dresses. She thought of Sinton and blushed it. She thought of the Bird Woman and knew she could not tell her. She thought of every way in which she ever had hoped to earn money and realized that with the play, committee meetings, practicing and final examinations she scarcely had time to live, much less to do more work than the work required for her pictures and gifts. Again Elvora was in trouble, and this time it seemed the worst of all.

It was dark when she arose and went home.

"Mother," she said, "I have a piece of news that is decidedly not cheerful. My money is all gone."

"Well, did you think it would last forever? It's been a marvel to me that it's held out as well as it has, the way you've dressed and gone."

"I don't think I've spent any that I was not compelled to," said Elvora. "I've dressed on just as little as I possibly could to keep going. I am heart-sick. I thought I had over $50 to put me through commencement, but they tell me it's all gone."

"In my opinion you'd best bring home your books and quit right now," said Mrs. Comstock. "You can't be fixed like the rest of them. Don't be so foolish as to run into it. Just stay here and let these last few days go. You can't learn enough more to be of any account."

"I can't!" said Elvora desperately. "I've gone on too long. It would make a break in everything. They wouldn't let me have my diploma!"

"What's the difference? You've got the stuff in your head. I wouldn't give a rap for a scrap of paper. That don't mean anything!"

"But I've worked four years for it and I can't enter—I ought to have it to help me get a school when I want to teach. If I don't have my grades to show people will think I quit because I couldn't pass my examinations. I must have my diploma!"

"Then get it!" said Mrs. Comstock.

CHAPTER XIV.

Wherein Mrs. Comstock Hears Elvora Play on Her Father's Violin.

ELVORA went upstairs and did not come down again that night, which her mother called pouting.

"I've thought all night," said the girl at breakfast, "and I can't see any way but to borrow the money of Uncle Wesley and pay it back from some of the Bird Woman will owe me, when I get one more specimen. But that means that I can't go to—that I will have to teach this winter, if I can get a city grade or a country school."

"Just you dare go dinging after Wesley Sinton for money," cried Mrs. Comstock. "You won't do any such thing!"

"I can't see any other way. I've got to have the money!"

"Quit, I tell you!"

"I can't quit—I've gone too far!"

"Well, then, let me get your clothes, and you can pay me back."

"But you said you had no money!"

"Maybe I can borrow some at the bank. Then you can return it when the Bird Woman pays you."

"All right," said Elvora. "I don't have to have expensive things. It will be warm, so I can go bare-headed."

Then she started to school, but was so tired and discouraged she scarcely could walk. Four years' plans going in one day! For she felt that if she did not get started to college that fall she never would.

After that the days went so swiftly she scarcely had time to think, but several trips her mother made to town, and the assurance that everything was all right, satisfied Elvora. She worked very hard to pass good final examinations and perfect herself for the play. For two days she had remained in town with the Bird Woman in order to spend more time practicing and at her work.

Often Margaret had asked about her dresses for graduation, and Elvora had replied that they were with a woman in the city who had made her a white dress for last year's commencement when she was a junior usher, and they would be all right. So Margaret, Wesley and Billy concerned themselves over what they would get her for a present. Margaret suggested a beautiful dress. Sinton said that would look to every one as if she needed dresses. The thing was to get a handsome gift like all the rest would have.

It was toward the close of the term when they drove to town one evening to try to settle this important question. They knew Mrs. Comstock had been alone several days, so they asked her to accompany them.

While they were searching the stores for something on which all of them could decide Mr. Brownlee met Wesley and stopped to shake hands.

"I see your boy came out finely," he said.

"I don't allow any boy anywhere to be finer than Billy," said Sinton.

"I guess you don't allow any girl to surpass Elvora," said Mr. Brownlee. "She comes home with Ellen often, and my wife and I love her. Ellen says she is great in her part tonight. Best thing in the whole play. Of course you are in to see it. If you haven't reserved seats you'd best start pretty soon, for the high school auditorium only seats a thousand."

"Why, yes, of course," said the bewildered Sinton. Then he hurried to Margaret. "Say," he said, "there is going to be a play at the high school tonight, and Elvora is in it. Why haven't she told us?"

"I don't know," said Margaret, "but I'm going."

"So am I," said Billy.

"Me, too," said Wesley, "unless you think for some reason she don't want us. Looks like she would have told us if she had. I'm going to ask her mother."

Genuine Maple Sugar.

There are few people outside the maple sugar making districts, says a writer in the Country Gentleman, who really know what the genuine article tastes like. The superior flavor thus spoken of is probably due in a degree to the same causes that make strawberries eaten off the vine and cherries consumed on the tree so delectable. The writer quoted, however, puts some of the blame for the poor flavor of commercial maple sugar on the "wily wholesale dealer and mixer."

Rules of Old Roman Fort.

A Roman fort has been found on the farm of Mumrills, near Lauriston, Dumfriesshire, a mile or so to the east of Falkirk, Scotland. While plowing operations were in progress in a field on the farm referred to there were laid bare the foundations and ruined walls which had been buried for centuries. Several of the roads or streets were traceable. A local antiquarian expert, having been advised of the discovery, assisted in the search.

Don't Be Nervous and Run-Down

New Tonic Tona Vita, Will Positively Restore Your Old Vitality.

Nervousness, depression of spirits, lack of energy, all run down, these are the chief symptoms of nervous debility, the modern affliction caused largely by the rush, bustle, and worry of modern life.

If you are a sufferer from this all-too-common complaint and cannot go to a high priced sanitarium to have rest and diet build you up, you should read carefully the following statement by C. N. Hunt, Esq., of 602 Sixth-st., Milwaukee, Wis., concerning the remarkable new tonic "Tona Vita" that has made such a great record during the past year. Mr. Hunt says: "For a number of years my wife has been a sufferer from a continuous run down nervous condition and stomach trouble. I took her to a number of doctors, but none seemed to give her any relief. She grew constantly worse and her entire system became affected."

"She could hardly eat anything and would say the very thought of eating made her sick. She caught one bad cold after another and was always tired and languid. She had bad headaches and attacks of dizziness."

"I got some Tona Vita a few months ago. My wife began taking the tonic that night and we were pleasantly surprised to notice an improvement after the second day. She is now like a different woman. The nervousness and depression are all gone, and she eats and sleeps better than she has for years. It seems wonderful to note such a change in her. I believe 'Tona Vita' is worth its weight in gold."

If you are debilitated and run down, above all things, try "Tona Vita." You will never regret it, as it will build you up like magic. It is the finest preparation now on the market.
